U.S. NUCLEAR WASTE TECHNICAL REVIEW BOARD
E-Government Act § 208 Report FY26

The U.S. Nuclear Waste Technical Review Board (NWTRB) is an independent agency in the executive branch of the federal government. NWTRB is authorized a staff of 12 on-site full time employees and 11 part-time presidential appointees. The part-time appointees work remotely and do not have access to any of the Board's information systems.

In accordance with Section 208 of the E-Government Act of 2002 and related OMB guidance, NWTRB has reviewed its information technology systems and collections for Fiscal Year 2026. NWTRB does not operate systems that collect, maintain, or disseminate personally identifiable information (PII) about members of the public. As a result, no Privacy Impact Assessments (PIAs) were required or conducted during this reporting period.